

Speak up

Speak up,

your voice is free

Speak up, open your mouth

Speak up, you're a free man

Speak up, you are your own person your life's your own.

Look at the darting flame and the red-hot iron at a blacksmith's, locks are unlocked, closed mouths open and the links in the chain cracks open.

Speak up, the moment is not just a brief moment, speak before you die, your voice dies

Speak up, the truth is still here, alive

Speak up, speak up, no matter what, you got to speak up.
